

Stephanie Little

Stephanie Little serves as Project Manager and Outreach Coordinator for the Michigan Business: Surviving to Thriving program at the University of Michigan. Prior to taking on this role, she served the nation's 12th largest CPA and business advisory firm. During that time she worked with management at numerous firms performing audit, tax and consulting services. Stephanie specialized in tax incentives including the domestic producer's deduction and R & D tax credit. Before joining the accounting firm, she worked in sales and marketing starting as an inside sales representative and graduated into a quality management role focusing on training and supervision. She holds a Master of Science in Accounting and a Bachelors of Business Administration from Eastern Michigan University.